ABOUT THE JOURNAL:

Foot & Ankle Specialist (FAS) is the first and only journal written for all foot and ankle specialists, whether they work in podiatry, podiatric surgery, orthopaedic surgery, or related disciplines.

What distinguishes FAS from related journals is its emphasis on clinical education derived from evidence-based practice. While other publications provide peer-reviewed research reports and commercially based non-peer reviewed content, none offers the practice-proven applied peer reviewed information you get from FAS.

FAS' editorship is unique, representing both podiatry and orthopedic surgery. Its collaborative editorship ensures that both professional groups contribute to and share in the most recent practice information available. What's more, FAS' editorial board combines foot and ankle specialists across a variety of disciplines, including podiatry, orthopaedic surgery, plastic surgery, physical therapy, dermatology, and neurology.

EDITORIAL DESCRIPTION:

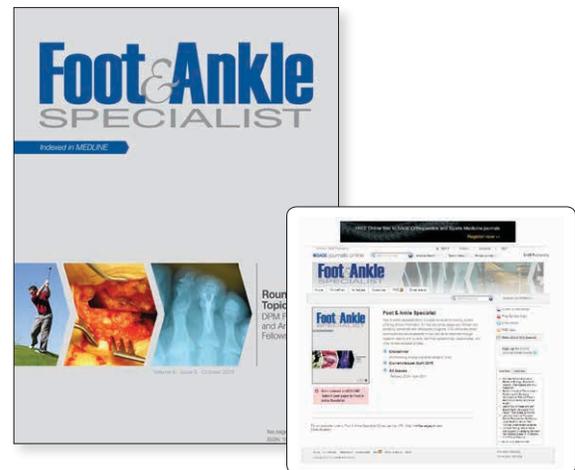

Foot & Ankle Specialist is an educational journal, covering the latest techniques and advancements in foot and ankle assessment and treatment. It includes technical articles, case studies, practice-based content and treatment dilemmas ("How I fixed..."). The content has four basic sections: Practice, Research, Business, and Equipment. Each issue highlights a specific practice based theme.

READERSHIP:

Foot & Ankle Specialist mails to a guaranteed readership combining qualified podiatrists (DPMs) and Orthopaedic surgeons specializing in foot and ankle surgery. Readership therefore includes all the designated foot and ankle specialists in orthopaedic surgery. In addition, the journal attracts foot and ankle specialists in plastic surgery, physical therapy, and related disciplines.

1. Clinical Research Department
2. 2-3 Educational articles devoted to each issue's theme
3. 2-3 Research and Results articles devoted to each issue's theme
