SOCIETY AFFILIATION: Society of Toxicologic Pathology

ABOUT THE SOCIETY:
The Society of Toxicologic Pathology (STP) was founded in 1971 as a nonprofit association of pathologists and other scientists whose principal aim is the advancement of pathology as it pertains to changes elicited by pharmacological, chemical, or environmental agents, and factors that modify these responses. The Society’s 1,275 members in over 25 countries are scientists and professionals who work in academic institutions, government, the pharmaceutical and chemical industry, contract research organizations, or as consultants. They are dedicated to the integration of toxicologic pathology into hazard identification, risk assessment, and risk communication regarding human, animal, and environmental exposure to potentially toxic substances. The STP provides expert guidance to legislative and regulatory decision makers regarding toxicologic pathology data and human or animal health.

ABOUT THE JOURNAL:
Toxicologic Pathology (TPX) is dedicated to the promotion of human health through the dissemination of knowledge, techniques, and guidelines to enhance the understanding and practice of toxicologic pathology. Our goal is to publish timely high-quality, original research articles that integrate the pathophysiologic effects of exposure to xenobiotics and other toxicants on organisms and organ systems. Research papers should include both pathology and toxicology and focus on morphological, functional, biochemical, and biomarker changes to better understand the pathophysiologic mechanisms of toxicants in vivo and in vitro. Toxicologic Pathology also publishes timely in-depth review papers, symposia papers, brief communications, best practice articles for scientific and regulatory processes, position papers on current regulatory issues, and fast-track articles.
